CAMPAIGN FOR LEGISLATURE

Letters From Over State.

Every day Akers receives from twenty to fifty letters from prominent business and professional men who endorse his plan for a bond issue. Men who represent millions of dollars in wealth and who exert widespread in-has not been confined to any particular section of the state. For that reason, the state treasurer expects rep-resentation of enthusiastic road boost-ers in the 1917 legislature.

Outgrowth of Necessity. The Grand Army of the Republic was the outgrowth of circumstances and necessity. Political problems of generations' standing developed into generations' standing developed into hostilities. The prayer of the people of all sections was that the cup of bitterness might pass, but it was not to be; and the flower of manhood in all sections resorted to arms. Such an army—the remnant of which we all sections resorted to arms. Such an army—the remnant of which we see here today—never was, and probably never again will be, recruited. A million boys 18 or under, and 2,006.

1000 21 or under, answered the call to the colors. The great bulk of the army was composed of men under 25.

The theater of war extended from the Potomac to the Rio Grande. Through much fighting there were many drawn battles though few decisive engagements. Altogether it was a four years' war of exhaustion in personnel and material that continued until the south was on the verge of bankruptcy. At the close of this war of Americans against Americans there was universal rejoicing in every part of the country, though gloom and sor-

WHAT WAR MOVES MEAN.

Prominent and Professional Men Behind Movement.

Boosters for permanent state wide highways will meet in Topeka this fall to discuss the need of legislation for state road building. The struggle, were burled in the last entrenchments. It is now unquestionable that the Germans have over-estimated their power of resistance in the west. They have been compelled to give ground because of the large withdrawals of men from France and Belgium for the Russian campaign. The capture of Warsaw, and other eastern successes have been worth the German lesses of this week end in the west; but a few more such losses will cut the German western line of communication and no victories in Russia would pay for such an outcome as that.

It is probable, therefore, that the Teutons will be compelled to send back to the west men of the regiments now in Russia. Petrograd in the section a member of the posse crept to the window and fired a bullet through the convict's lung.

Albany, Ore., Sept. 29.—Otto Hooker, and French who shot and killed Harry Minto, warden of the Cregon penitentiary at Salem, and probably fatally wounded J. J. Benson, city marshal of Jefferson, died today from wounds received in a revolver battle with a posse last night.

Hooker was discovered in an unconcupied house here shortly before midnight. A posse surrounded the house and demanded he surrender. Hooker replied with a volley from a revolver. As his fire was drawn in another direction a member of the posse crept to the window and fired a bullet through the convict's lung.

Today's Market Report.

When Akers first discussed his plan two weeks ago, the question met with instant response in every section of the state. The men who encouraged the project were not the average or small taxpayers, but the most wealthy and influential men in the various communities—the men who pay the bulk of the public bills.

Now there is a definite and well defined movement in many counties in Kansas which will result in a real road campaign during the next legislative session. In, many of the counties, candidates will be tested and interviewed in advance of the primaries concerning their position on the state highway question. Then the fight will be made to put through a resolution submitting an amendment to the state constitution which will permit Kansas to engage in the building of permanent highways.

When Akers first discussed his plan in the state of the and glory; and though it will in its proper season die stolline, and glory; and though it will in its proper season die sublime, nothing can avail to erase its sublime, nothing can avail to erase its spirit and influence from the rippling shadows of the Stars and Stripes.

Consider the lesson of this demonstration:

On the other side of the Atlantic millions of men are engaged in a desperate struggle to destroy each other, devastate vast zones of territory and bankrupt nations. A collossal tragedy over which the people have no control.

Here, a hundred million are enjoying greater prosperity and freedom than any people who ever have lived on the face of the globe. Theirs is the sublime right and privilege of soveright and should that happen, Bulgaria's entrance into the war with the Teutons will be compelled to send back to the west would pay for such and though it will in its proper season die sublime, nothing can avail to erase its spirit and influence from the rippling outcome at that.

It is probable, therefore, that the Teutons will be compelled to send back to the west, und though though though the rippling outcome at the cutons will be called to sell the probable death warrant.

"It is the personnel of the men who have written to me as favoring the state highway plan that has aroused my enthusiasm." said Akers. "In almost every mail I receive a bunch of letters favoring the plan. Men who know something about the state highway blan that thus aroused my enthusiasm." said Akers. Allies Get $480,000,000.

Because the bonds will be sold four points under their par value Great Britain and France will have placed to their credit here not $500,000,000, but $480,000,000. In other words, the two nations are paying $20,000,000 for the privilege of buying American products at top of the market prices. The $20,000,000 will buy this privilege, it is estimated, not for a long period, but for only a few months, possibly for a year, when the credit probably will be exhausted and if the war is still in progress another credit will have to be established, or some other method devised, to meet the bills then coming due.

In addition to this $20,000,000, the two countries will pay $25,000,000 annually for five years—$125,000,000 annually for five years—$125,000,000 antogether—in interest to the holders. Thus the unsettlement of the foreign exchange market during the past three months will have cost the two governments a total of $145,000,000 when the final bill is paid.

Wall St., New York, Sept. 29.—STOCKS—The reaction resulting largely from heavy realizing temporarily unsettled the list but had no effect on the large outpourings of stocks, the first hour's business being estimated at 450,000 shares. Later prices showed more regularity, United States Stock's rise of ½ to 79½ being a helpful factor. In the main, however, the morning session clearly reflected an increasing degree of nervousness. Induced by a mixture of professional liquidation and less aggresive public buying. Crucible Steel, which rose six to the new high record of 107¼ and Lackawana Steel ½ to 91½, also a record, together with a few other specialities, took the places of some of the early leaders at midday, when trading became more normal.

Bonds were firm.

Aside from a resumption of the upward movement in specialities, publication of the terms of the Anglo-French loan falled to exercise a stimulating influence at the outset of today's trading, investment shares again receiving scant attention. There were numerous "wide" openings in the war group, Baldwin Locomotive overshadowing all others with a sale of 8,000 shares at 59½ to 70, a two point advance. Raliway Steel Springs rose 3 to 48½ Pressed Steel Car 2% to 75½ and Tennessee Copper 4% to 65. Colorado Fuel also became active an advance of 2% to 63½. The list showed signs of heavy profit taking after the initial outburst and reactions of 3 to 16 points followed.
